

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A connection setting apparatus having a connection information acquiring unit for acquiring first connection information from a plurality of apparatus connected to a network, each apparatus having at least one line, and a generating unit for 5 generating second connection information in accordance with the acquired first connection information.